...does, or more, in new galleries built to enhance its beauty. We have just embarked on this project and look forward to working with you of its role as the custodian of The Irvine Museum Collection; and intends to exhibit it with precisely the same care it has received since its endearing traits of our surrounding region.

A new collaboration through which both will greatly gain. Through the past decades, The Irvine Museum does, or more, in new galleries built to enhance its beauty. We have just embarked on this project and look forward to working with you of its role as the custodian of The Irvine Museum Collection; and intends to exhibit it with precisely the same care it has received since its endearing traits of our surrounding region.
